OVERVIEW

These all-new Athearn Genesis models represent 23K-capacity GATX TankTrain cars from the 486-number series (built in 1977), and 282-series (built in 1982). Based upon GATX diagrams, as well as photos and field measurements taken from prototype TankTrain cars at GATX's West Colton repair facility, these new Genesis models faithfully replicate the prototype differences between the two different series', including variations on the tank saddles, walkways, manways, brake rigging, and transfer piping. While these cars are most closely associated with Southern Pacific, TankTrain sets comprised of these cars have been, and can be seen in operation across the country. Grand Trunk Western, for example, operated TankTrain cars from the 486-series in the Great Lakes region, hauling fuel oil, in the late 1970s. And despite construction of a pipeline that eliminated the need for Southern Pacific's original routing of TankTrain equipment, a new TankTrain, operated by Southern Pacific successor Union Pacific along the former SP "Coast Line", operates to this day with many of the same cars, from a loading facility in San Ardo, California, to a refinery in Carson, California.
